Happy Astronaut Productions is proud to announce the Durham, NC based band Spaceship Days

The band have earned numerous awards, including Best Pop Act 2012 Artist in Music Awards, and Video of the Year in the 2014 Carolina Music Awards for their song “December”. The band brought 2014 to a close by being placed on the ballot of the 57th Grammy Awards for Best Video, Best Rock Song, and Best Rock Performance, also for “December”.

Happy Astronaut Productions is launching Spaceship Days to radio, and media, and their tour is scheduled to begin in July 2015. We are honored to be working with this band. Their talent transcends Forming in 2009, this altpop band took their name from a lyric in a Catherine Wheel song.

After releasing a pair of albums independently (“The Halo Effect” 2009; “Black Holes & Butterflies” 2010) to wide acclaim, the founding members of the band: Greg Torsone -guitars/production; Chuck Cox - bass, joined forces with a new vocalist, American Idol/America’s Got Talent Finalist Adam Lee Decker. “The Thrill of Freefall” was released in March 2013.

The first single from that EP, “December” is featured in the Every New Day pictures film Secrets in the Fall, and was placed on the ballot for the 57th Grammy Awards in the Best Video, Best Rock Song, and Best Rock Performance categories respectively.

Soon after the release of Spaceship Days’ follow up EP “Saving the Universe” in July of 2014, Brian Avery, fresh off of his tenure in one of London’s hottest up and coming rock bands, took over as the band’s percussionist.

Armed with the fusion of chemistry, mature songwriting, crisp production, and a spectacular live show Spaceship Days is a band for any music lover.
